Backers of Debenture Farm Aid Plan Admit Defeat

COMMITTEE MUST ELIMINATE PLAN TO PASS ANY BILL

Fourth Meeting of Conference Fails To Make Any Progress Toward Ending Deadlock.

SENATE MAY WIN MINOR POINTS

Conciliators See Ultimate Agreement With Debenture Out and Upper House Pacified.

BY RAYMOND Z. HENLE,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, May 24.—(AP)—Acknowledgment by friends of the export debenture plan that any report of the farm relief conference committee must include a recommendation for the rejection of that proposal, served to clarify the status of agricultural legislation today in spite of the committee's failure to agree upon a course of procedure.

After a fourth meeting of the conference had ended with no progress made, debenture advocates admitted that if a report is agreed upon it would suggest the elimination of debentures.

Disagreement has been occasioned by insistence of senate members of the committee that the conference hold a general discussion on the two farm bills passed separately by the two branches of congress and then decide upon what shall be done with the debenture section. The house conference has stubbornly declined to go ahead with the negotiations unless the senate members first agree not to bring debentures into the discussions.

Recession Certain.

To agree to such a proposal, senate conferees considered the senate would first have to recede from its position in favor of the debenture plan. The senators pointed out to the house members that it would be virtually impossible to bring this about speedily.

They argued, however, that if a conference report was brought in suggesting the elimination of the plan as the best course under the circumstances, the senate probably would recede more quickly, thus insuring earlier enactment of farm legislation.

It was the opinion of the senate conferees that the negotiations might result in a victory for the senate on a majority of the important conference issues necessary before the differences in the two farm bills could be composed, and that on the basis of such a showing, the senate might agree to lay aside, so far as farm relief legislation was concerned, its previous demand that the debenture plan be made part of an agricultural measure.

Arguments Persist.

House members persisted with the arguments they had raised in all previous meetings that the senate had no right to initiate the debenture plan and that therefore they could not agree to bring a report to the house which included any reference to the debenture section, no matter if that reference suggested its elimination.

At the rate the negotiations have progressed and in light of the feeling held by conference meeting members, final enactment of farm legislation is not looked for much before the tenth of June. However, some conferees believed that with luck, congressional work on the relief legislation could be completed a week earlier than that date.

TOMORROW'S THE DAY HENRY FORD BEGINS THOSE WEEKLY CHATS

Once a week Henry Ford is seeing a reporter representing this newspaper, to chat about some subject which is uppermost in his mind then.

And every Sunday the interview Mr. Ford gives the reporter that day will appear here.

Perhaps he'll talk about automobiles or labor or rich men or politics; maybe about aviation or war or prohibition or battleships.

In any case it will be Henry Ford, and what Henry Ford says bears reading, whether you agree with it or not.

UNWANTED WIFE DENIES BETRAYAL OF EDITOR-CONVICT

Mrs. Burns Displays Letters Containing Endearing Terms Written by Fugitive From Georgia.

Chicago, May 24.—(AP)—Aroused by charges that she forced Robert Elliott Burns to marry her, Emily Pacheco Burns today denied she pulled the strings which jerked her husband out of a $20,000-a-year magazine business and may send him back to a Georgia chain-gang from which he escaped. She produced what purported to be a series of letters received from Burns during courtship.

Burns is at liberty under $5,000 bond pending arrival in Springfield, Ill., of Georgia authorities who seek to extradite to that state to finish serving a sentence for robbery.

Mrs. Burns traced her acquaintance with Burns previous to their marriage, and letters which she produced contained a number of endearing expressions. She denied advising Georgia officials of Burns' whereabouts. Burns accused her of turning him over to authorities in retaliation for leaving her.

HARDMAN AWAITES PRISON COMMISSION.

Action of Governor L. G. Hardman on requests for a pardon for Robert Elliott Burns, escaped Georgia chain-gang convict and now a prosperous Chicago publisher, awaits the recommendations of the Georgia prison commission.

Meantime requisition papers signed by the governor were en route by air mail to Chicago, where Burns was released on $5,000 bond after two Georgia officials appearing in superior court there had failed to produce any papers requesting his return to this state.

Governor Hardman was approached by representatives of the Chicago American Legion, who declined to act on their request for a pardon until Burns' application for clemency had gone through "regular channels." Calling attention to his previous record in such cases the governor indicated he then would be ready to make his decision.

MRS. GENE TUNNEY SUFFERS RELAPSE; FEVER INCREASES

Pola, Italy, May 24.—(United News)—Mrs. Gene Tunney, who recently underwent an operation at Brioni, suffered a relapse tonight. Mrs. Tunney was reported recovering until this morning when her temperature suddenly increased.

A member of the Tunney party told the United News correspondent that the seriousness of the relapse "can not yet be determined."

MCKINNEY LEAVES MUSEUM OF ART

Popular Director Accepts Position as Director of New Million-Dollar Baltimore Plant.

R. J. McKinney, director of the High Museum of Art, has accepted a similar position with the new $1,000,000 municipal museum of Baltimore. It was announced here Friday night by R. L. Foreman, president of the Atlanta Art Association.

Mr. McKinney, who is a graduate of the Chicago Art Institute, came here January 1, 1928, from Dayton, Iowa, to take charge of the High Museum and his work in the capacity has been entirely satisfactory.

Mr. Foreman stated that negotiations were under way to obtain a successor for Mr. McKinney, but that nothing definite had been decided as yet.

SMUGGLING ARMS LAD O HUSBAND OF ATLANTA GIRL

Colorful Career of "Red" Mohun in Mexican, Chinese and Nicaraguan Uprisings Revealed.

El Paso, Texas, May 24.—(Special)—Philip "Red" Mohun, 27-year-old former flier with the "Yankee Escadrille" air force of the rebels in Mexico, was released from the federal jail here today on his own recognizance to await trial for smuggling munitions of war in an airplane across the Rio Grande to the revolutionists. The fiery headed aerial adventurer, most colorful American figure of the revolution, whose wife lives at 525 Seminoles avenue, Atlanta, Ga., is charged jointly with Salvador Ateca, wealthy former Juan, Mexico, capitalist and rebel paymaster, with conspiring to violate United States neutrality laws.

Mohun showed up on the border last March, became a lieutenant flier in the Mexican federal army in a week's time and serving under General Almazan he fought the first Mexican air battle of history.

It happened while Red and a couple of Mexican colonels were on a bombing expedition. Over Torreon, a rebel stronghold, they dropped a half dozen bombs. Torreon was in a frenzy, there were some dead and scores of wounded. An enemy ship appeared. The fliers landed and the battle ended when six-shot ammunition gave out.

So Red quit. Next he showed up in Juarez and joined the "Yankee Escadrille." The rebels were in need of pilots. They needed a flier to bring them across from the United States. One night El Pasoans wondered at the sight of a motor overhead. The fliers shadow crossed the border and later Mohun climbed out of the cockpit in Mexico.

Time Mohun volunteered to fly a plane carrying a load of nitroglycerin from Juarez to Chihuahua. He did it. The Mexicans were amazed. They had a pint of tequila and smoking a cigarette. Mohun was arrested at Nogales, Ariz., after four weeks with the rebels. He was confined in jail for 30 days until his release today.

WIFE RELATES STORY OF "REDS" ADVENTURES.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mohun, pretty young wife of Philip "Red" Mohun, lives at 525 Seminoles avenue with her mother and five-year-old daughter. She said she was married in Welch, W. Va., more than six years ago, and that she left her husband in Norfolk, Va., about four years ago, coming to Atlanta immediately afterward, where she has since been employed by the Realty Construction Company.

Mrs. Mohun said that although she had been separated from her husband several years she visited her a few days here last June. He has written me a number of times, she said, and she has written him back. She said she was excited to see him when he came to Atlanta.

Mohun since early youth has searched the globe for excitement. He has been around the world three times and has engaged in Chinese, Russian and Nicaraguan uprisings. In his most recent adventures he has first fought with the Mexican federalists and then joined the rebel ranks.

The adventurer who is 27 years old, attended a military school in Pennsylvania, he is said to have excellent family connections.

"Red" is just a reckless, roving fellow who has never known what responsibility means. "He simply lives on thrills," she said.

MARION TALLEY FINDS HER FARM, NEWSPAPER SAYS

Kansas City, Mo., May 24.—(AP)—The Kansas City Star will say tomorrow that Marion Talley, former Metropolitan Opera singer, who recently resigned from that company with the object of living on a farm, has found the place.

The paper will describe it as a Kansas farm, a half-mile square, knee deep in wheat, and purchased for one dollar and other valuable considerations.

The farm, a section of land of 640 valuable acres, was owned by Col. W. H. Griggs, who lives across the road from Mr. Candler, told Sheriff Hall that he saw a motor car drive into the estate about 8 o'clock Thursday night and that at 10 o'clock the motor of the car was still running but that all the lights had been extinguished.

Third Dimensional Pictures Bring New Era to Theaters

New York, May 24.—(United News)—The three dimensional motion picture—the object of a decade of laboratory research—was demonstrated successfully for the first time tonight before a group of leading motion picture executives and newspapermen at the studios of the RCA Photophone, Inc.

The new system, described as natural vision photography and projection, promises to bring about radical changes in the motion picture technique, and following closely the introduction of sound films, threatens to throw into the discard present methods of filming and projecting pictures.

Natural vision photography is the work of George K. Spoor and John J. Berggren, of Chicago. They required 10 years to bring the process to completion.

The most revolutionary change apparent to the spectators is the size of the screen and the pictures thrown thereon. The screen used in the tests tonight was 30 feet high and 52 feet long.

The figures on the screen appear life size and every detail is shown in natural perspective. It is, as nearly as mechanically possible, like viewing a production on the large stage of a legitimate theater. One of the film's shown tonight was a musical comedy, with the chorus of dancers appearing so life-like that they seemed to be dancing into the audience. The film was made with sound.

The possibilities of the new method in exterior shots were said to be unlimited, as the camera used is capable of photographing scenes five miles away.

PROBE IS ORDERED INTO MAY'S DEATH

Body of Jeweler Found in Auto With Exhaust Pipe Opened and Windows Sealed.

Although a coroner's jury, sitting at Decatur Friday, returned a verdict that Martin May, widely known Atlanta jeweler, came to his death by an unknown cause and that the case "should be investigated fully," officials of DeKalb county were unable to find any evidence which might lead to indicate that Mr. May met with foul play.

Mr. May, 40, was found in his car, a 1927 Buick, which was found in a field near the intersection of Highway 1 and Highway 2, about four miles from Decatur.

The body of Mr. May was found in the morning in his parked motor car in the Chalmers road estate of Walter Candler.

Immediately after the verdict of the jury, Sheriff Hall, of DeKalb county, started a complete investigation. Sheriff Hall will be assisted by Captain M. H. Wright, head of the Atlanta police department's Berillon bureau, who had made photographs of all the fingerprints found on Mr. May's motor car.

Harry May, brother and business associate of Martin May, testifying at the inquest, said that his brother was supposed to have been in the city since last Thursday. Members of Mr. May's family said that he left home hurriedly Thursday night saying that he was going to the office while others testified to having seen him enter his office and remain about ten minutes.

To Trace Tube.

After the inquest Harry May announced that he would employ detectives in an effort to learn where the tube came from which connected the exhaust pipe with the air tight section of the motor car tonneau in which Mr. May's body was found.

The automobile in which Mr. May's body was found was reported to have had all its windows closed and paper stuffed in cracks, making it almost airtight. The body was on the rear seat, close to a pipe from which had come a deadly carbon monoxide fumes from the car's engine. The ignition switch of the car was turned on and the gasoline tank empty, indicating that the motor had run until the fuel supply was exhausted.

The body was found about 7 o'clock by Dave Houston, an employee of Mr. Candler. Sheriff Hall and several physicians were called and it was found that Mr. May had been dead several hours.

Sw Arrival of Car.

W. H. Griggs, who lives across the road from Mr. Candler, told Sheriff Hall that he saw a motor car drive into the estate about 8 o'clock Thursday night and that at 10 o'clock the motor of the car was still running but that all the lights had been extinguished.

PLAN FOR TAXING 'INVISIBLE ASSETS' IS TURNED DOWN

Finance Committee Moves To Name Body To Cooperate With State Board in Tax Problem Solution

Adversing a proposal to force entry of intangible assets of Atlantans on tax digests of Atlanta to be levied upon at same rate at which real property is assessed, the finance committee of city council Friday afternoon moved to set up a tax commission in Atlanta designed to cooperate with a similar commission appointed by Governor L. G. Hardman, for the purpose of evolving a solution of the city's needs for additional revenue.

Action of the finance committee followed a lengthy discussion of the paper at which leading bankers, business men and representatives of the Atlanta city government assented to the plan. The commission appointed by Governor Hardman and one which the finance committee recommended that the mayor and council of the city select would react to the best advantage of both.

Paper Adversed.

The committee's decision to adverse the paper intended to force a tax on "invisible assets" came on motion of Councilman Harry York, of the sixth ward, and was seconded by Alderman Claude Ashley, of the fourth ward. The paper would have increased the city's income approximately $3,000,000 a year, according to proponents. All members of the committee voted to adverse the measure, except Dr. P. L. Moon, alderman from the second ward.

Declaring that the business men and bankers present at the public hearing on the proposed tax on "invisible assets" of the city, A. J. Orme, president of the Atlanta Trust Company and himself a former chairman of the city finance committee, declared the delegation was there to assist along constructive lines.

He introduced Robert F. Maddox, chairman of the board of directors of the Atlanta and Lowry National bank and the former mayor of Atlanta, to outline their views.

The move to name a committee from Atlanta to confer with the state committee was initiated by Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, of the eleventh ward, author of the tax paper which the committee voted to adverse. If plans of the finance committee are carried out, the new commission representing

GIRL SLAYS MAN WHO INSULTED HER

Tennessee Maid Uses Wheel Spoke on Merchant—Sheriff Refuses To Make Arrest.

Georgetown, Tenn., May 24.—(AP)—Eva Cofer, 25-year-old farm girl, unconcernedly picked strawberries in her father's fields today after averaging the advances of Lee Atchley, 35, by clubbing him to death in his grocery store.

The girl entered the store late yesterday and is said to have fled when Atchley, whom witnesses said apparently had been drinking, made improper advances to her. She returned a few moments later with the spoke of a wagon wheel, beat him into insensibility, and left him lying in a pool of blood on the floor.

Atchley died at his home this morning without regaining consciousness. A coroner's inquest into the attack probably will be held tomorrow.

Meanwhile, the office of the sheriff in Deatur, county seat of Meigs county, said no warrant had been issued for the girl's arrest, and that no action would be taken until the coroner's inquest returned its verdict.

Atchley is survived by his widow and two children. Miss Cofer's father, Jack Cofer, operates a small farm where the girl worked most of the day in a strawberry patch.

Georgetown is located in the mountainous section of southeastern Tennessee, only a few miles from Dayton, which was made famous by the Scopes evolution trial several years ago.

The little village has neither railroad, telephone nor telegraph lines. The nearest communication is at Decatur, the county seat of Meigs county.

PEACE RESTORED BETWEEN VENABLE AND ASSOCIATION

Suits Withdrawn and Litigation Stopped as Result of Meeting of Directors of Body.

VENABLE ELECTED MEMBER OF BOARD

Peace Contract Drawn Up by Lawyers for Both Sides Adopted—Work To Start at Once.

All differences between the Venable heirs and the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental Association have been settled, both parties having agreed on the withdrawal of all suits and the stopping of all litigation regarding the possession of the property involved, and the work on the central group of three figures will be resumed in the immediate future with a view to completing them within the next two years.

These were the developments at the meeting of the directors of the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental Association at the Chamber of Commerce Friday afternoon when the contract drawn by the lawyers for the association and Mr. Venable was unanimously approved and Sam H. Venable himself unanimously elected to the membership on the board and the executive committee.

The meeting brought to a close more than a year of litigation and means that a full agreement has been reached so that the work of carving the central group may be resumed with a view to completing it within two years' time, which it was the unanimous opinion of those attending that the completion of this part of the monument will mean the ultimate completion of the entire project as originally planned, including the mammoth memorial hall at the base of the mountain.

At the meeting of the association May 14 a proposal from Mr. Venable was presented which called for a conference between the lawyers for both sides for the purpose of drawing up a mutually agreeable contract to allow the completion of the central group.

The proposal was unanimously accepted and the lawyers for the association instructed to proceed.

The contract presented at the meeting Friday was the result of this conference and was signed by Mr. Venable. While there was some discussion as to the advisability of acting on the contract at once, the final agreement was to accept it without further delay.

Representatives from a large number of the patriotic bodies in Atlanta spoke in behalf of the contract as did Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, W. D. ... president of the Chamber of Commerce, Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of the Atlanta schools, and many others.

G. F. Willis, president of the association, spoke most urgently in advocating the acceptance of the terms of the contract.

ERROR IN FIGURES

Edmonds Quoted Incorrectly
On Highway Situation.

Through a typographical error, statements attributed to Richard Woods Edmonds, of the staff of the Manufacturers Record and a nephew of Richard H. Edmonds, publisher of the journal, in an interview Friday in The Constitution were reported incorrectly. In discussing the poor condition of Georgia highways Mr. Edmonds was quoted as estimating the number of motor cars used on them in Georgia at 10,000, whereas it should have been 100,000, and the annual waste was estimated at $100,000,000, whereas it should have been $10,000,000.

RETAIL FURNITURE
MEN NAME OFFICERSJake Bernstein, Athens, Is Elected President of Georgia Group.

Rome, Ga., May 24.—(Special).—Georgia Retail Furniture Association closed a two-day session here today, with the election of officers at noon.

Following this a luncheon was given for the members of the association at the Coosa Country Club.

Jake Bernstein, of Athens, was elected as the next president. Grover Maxwell, of the Maxwell Furniture company, of Augusta, is the new vice president, and the office of secretary and treasurer will be filled by the executive committee at a later date.

This same committee will select the 1930 convention city also, although invitations were read from both Atlanta and Gainesville. This executive committee is composed of Otis Daniel, of Rome, chairman; W. M. Hicks, of Atlanta; T. C. Dixon, of Atlanta; C. Helmy, of Savannah; and John Martin, of Columbus.

A special resolution was presented by A. L. Myers, of Atlanta, in regard to a proposed sales tax bill by the state legislature. The resolution follows: "Whereas, it has been brought to the attention of the Georgia Retail Furniture Association in meeting assembled that a sales tax as an emergency revenue measure is to be proposed at the coming meeting of the Georgia legislature, and whereas, business over the entire state is now struggling under heavy tax burdens, and, whereas, all merchants are struggling to economize in order to continue to exist; be it resolved, that this association goes on record as being opposed to all forms of additional taxation and respectfully urge our legislature to practice the same sort of economy which we are having in practice to maintain our existence."

Bacon---Luncheon and Dinner Dishes

BY MARIE GIFFORD,
Food Economics Department, Armour & Co.

Bacon, the American breakfast meat, holds a place of honor at the luncheon and dinner table. Sweet morsels of bacon will add a new note of pleasure to an otherwise bland food. There are relatively few new foods, but there are many new and different combinations that will add variety and zest to the noon day and evening meal.

Substantial dishes prepared with bacon are:

- Spanish Lima Beans.
- 1 cup dried lima beans.
- 2 to 3 onions.
- 1 can tomato puree.
- 1 teaspoon salt.
- 1 teaspoon pepper.
- 2 tablespoons fat.
- 2 tablespoons flour.

Soak the beans overnight in cold water and cook slowly for two hours or until soft. Fry the dried bacon in a skillet, add the onion and cook until evenly browned. Add the tomato puree, bay leaves, seasoning and the beans drained. Serve as the main dinner dish, garnish with sautéed tomatoes, chopped parsley or sautéed rings of green pepper.

Bacon Meat Loaf.

1 lb. bacon.

1 lb. lean veal.

The OBOY GANG—PERCY LANDS THE GRAND PRIZE!

PERCY has never been much of a fisherman. But here's one big one that didn't get away! Of course the rest of the gang are envious of his luck.

Almost any boy or girl in town would consider it luck to land a prize like Percy's. Oboy bread has achieved a tremendous popularity here since its introduction several months ago. Novelty may have accounted for its first enthusiastic reception, but only quality—downright goodness—can explain its continued success. Try one luscious loaf for yourself and you'll understand.

Oboy's golden crust is crumbly, crisp and flaky. Oboy's snowy center is fine and smooth and sweet. Every slice is full of flavor—full of health and strength. Oboy lends itself superbly to any sort of serving. Taste it spread with butter, jam or jelly—in Brown Betty or Bread Pudding. Eat it toasted—French toast, cinnamon toast, milk toast, toast sticks—in any way you choose. We wager you'll say with the rest of the town, "Oboy"! Your grocer has it fresh from the ovens.

STONE BAKING COMPANY

PERCY has never been much of a fisherman. But here's one big one that didn't get away! Of course the rest of the gang are envious of his luck.

Almost any boy or girl in town would consider it luck to land a prize like Percy's. Oboy bread has achieved a tremendous popularity here since its introduction several months ago. Novelty may have accounted for its first enthusiastic reception, but only quality—downright goodness—can explain its continued success. Try one luscious loaf for yourself and you'll understand.

Oboy's golden crust is crumbly, crisp and flaky. Oboy's snowy center is fine and smooth and sweet. Every slice is full of flavor—full of health and strength. Oboy lends itself superbly to any sort of serving. Taste it spread with butter, jam or jelly—in Brown Betty or Bread Pudding. Eat it toasted—French toast, cinnamon toast, milk toast, toast sticks—in any way you choose. We wager you'll say with the rest of the town, "Oboy"! Your grocer has it fresh from the ovens.

ROOSEVELTS KILLED RARE ANIMAL IN ASIA

Giant Panda, Measuring 7 Feet Long, Brought in by Brothers.

Shanghai, May 24.—(P)—Kermit and Theodore Roosevelt, the latter of whom has accepted the governorship of Porto Rico, have killed what they describe as a giant Panda, rare Asiatic animal, weighing more than 200 pounds and stretching seven feet from nose to tail. Its skin and skeleton will be taken by Kermit to the Field Museum at Chicago when he leaves here shortly for the United States.

(Although the Roosevelts described the animal as a "Panda," available reference works give its name as Pandarctos; the Panda is a comparatively small carnivorous animal living in the eastern Himalayas.)

Kermit said he and his brother discovered the animal in the Lolo country in the Asiatic hinterland after they had almost given up hope of obtaining a specimen. One morning they discovered Panda tracks in the snow and followed them. They found the animal sleeping, both Kermit and Theodore shooting at it to be sure it did not escape.

The Lolo runners accompanying the expedition refused to carry the carcass, since the animal is a minor deity among them. They almost never see a Panda and never harm one when they do. The tribal priest conducted rites to purify the tribe and drive off evil spirits. The tribe continued friendly, however, showing no resentment for the killing of the sacred animal.

Kermit said he was suffering from a peculiar malady which he judged was the result of eating native food in the Lolo country. He said acute stomach pains recurred almost every fortnight.

Ford and Hoover Discuss LAW MUST BE OBEYED, SAYS MAGNATE Prohibition at Luncheon

BY LAWRENCE SULLIVAN,
United News Staff Correspondent.
Washington, May 24.—(United News.)—When Herbert Hoover and Henry Ford met at the White House luncheon table they discussed prohibition.

That, at least, is the only subject the celebrated auto manufacturer would admit having discussed with the chief executive today.

"Prohibition is here to stay," said Ford after his visit with the president.

"Prohibition must be enforced. There can be no turning back. I do not believe the people of the country want modification."

"Did you express that sentiment in your talk with the president," he was asked.

Talked Prohibition.

"Well, we discussed prohibition," he answered smilingly.

The increasing use of machinery alone, Ford said, militated against prohibition of alcoholic beverages.

Machinery in the homes and machinery in the air—all of these, he said, make sobriety not only desirable, but a biological necessity in this high-speed civilization.

"Did you ever ride with a tipsy aviator?" he asked, as if to end the discussion with a question.

Ford declined to indicate the president's reaction to his prohibition views, further than to say there had been a "discussion" of the subject.

Neither would he say whether this discussion revolved about the president's newly appointed law enforcement commission, which is to meet in the cabinet room at the White House next Tuesday to receive its formal charge and charter from President Hoover.

One-Day Visit.

Ford made a flying one-day visit to the capital expressly to accept the president's luncheon invitation. He left for New York late this afternoon.

During the morning he browsed in the famous antique shops of Alexandria in quest of new pieces for his world-famous collection of colonial Americana. He passed unrecognized in the street for 15 minutes.

It was not until he stopped into a tiny shop to negotiate purchase of an old style ladder-back chair, that he was recognized.

"You're Mr. Ford?" challenged Miss Rebecca La Porte, pretty daughter of the proprietor. The customer acknowledged with a smile. He was accompanied by two of his personal secretaries. After purchasing the chair he stepped into the busy street.

A new Deisel engine designed for aircraft, will be the next major production of the Ford establishment, if research now under way produces the hoped-for results. Ford told newspapermen who greeted him on President Hoover's front porch.

Discusses Engines.

"It is a little too early to forecast the future of the Deisel engine or to say that it will revolutionize aviation," Ford said. He does not propose to seek a Deisel for automobiles, and it is still uncertain whether the added weight of this type is compensated by the cheaper operating costs in airplanes.

"We will continue the development of commercial aviation as fast as we can. We are studying all engines, including the new Deisel and are developing one of our own."

Ford checked over stock market rumors that he might sell his automobile business, and devote himself exclusively to airplanes.

"Tell them to hire a hotel and fill it with these rumors," he said stoically.

Today's White House luncheon was the first meeting between the president and his old friend since inauguration. They last met at Thomas Edison's birthday party, at Fort Myers, Fla., last February.

RECOMMEND PURCHASE OF OKEFENOKEE BY U. S.

Waycross, Ga., May 24.—(Special.)—Georgia state board of forestry, of which Governor L. G. Hardman is president, has given its unanimous approval to the project calling for the purchase of the Okefenokee swamp by the federal government, and the material will be placed before the annual meeting of the Forestry Association in Brunswick May 29 and 31, according to information given by Bonnell H. Stone, secretary of the Forestry Association, in a letter to J. S. Elkins, secretary of the Waycross and Ware county Chamber of Commerce, as well as the Southeast Georgia Co-operative Association.

The State Forestry Association also is intensely interested in the St. Mary-St. Mark's canal project. Mr. Stone states, and this matter also will be presented at the annual meeting.

"I am glad to pledge my hearty support to any proposal that your Co-operative Association may make to the legislature for an appropriation of sufficient size to enable the Georgia canal commission to function properly," Mr. Stone says with regard to the movement for the St. Mary-St. Mark's canal.

"This movement has been discussed from time to time since the original proposal was made by George Washington, the first president of our country, and it seems certain now that your co-operative association has a golden opportunity before it under the Hoover administration. Although I represent one of the mountain counties in Georgia in the general assembly, I would deem it a high honor indeed to sponsor such a proposal for adequate appropriations and any other legislation that may be needed for the great state of Georgia along this line."

IN HEART OF ROME

Rome, Ga., May 24.—(Special.)—The decapitated and mangled body of Donald Treadaway, 22-year-old bricklayer, was found on the Central of Georgia railroad tracks in the heart of the city last night, shortly before 9 o'clock. A coroner's jury today at noon declared that he met his death when struck by a northbound freight train.

There were no eyewitnesses. Practically every bone in his body was broken and the head was found some feet away from his body. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Treadaway, of this city. Funeral services will be held Sunday morning.

The stamp will be placed on sale at Menlo Park, N. J., on June 5 and at other offices as soon thereafter as possible.

WIDOW IS FREED AFTER DRY LAW CONVICTION

Two Ministers on Jury Acquitting Woman—Defense Silent in Appeal.

Beatrice, Neb., May 24.—(P)—A widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Wright, who previously had been convicted in police court of sale and possession of liquor, was freed last night by a district court jury, two members of which were ministers.

The jury voted acquittal although the defense made no effort to refute police testimony that a little less than a pint of liquor was found in Mrs. Wright's flat. The case had been appealed after Mrs. Wright had been sentenced in police court to pay a $100 fine or serve 60 days in jail.

The Rev. Isaac Casteel, of the Pilgrim Congregational church, of Courtland, Neb., and J. W. Gish, a veteran elder and acting minister of the Brethren church, of Beatrice, were jurors.

Mr. Casteel said he was "thankful to have had this jury experience in a liquor case."

"I do not believe a conviction would have been justifiable on the basis of the finding of this small amount of liquor, even though the defendant may have been technically guilty under the state prohibition laws," he said.

County Attorney H. E. Mattoon took another view. "It seems impossible to convince jurors that the Nebraska law does not countenance possession of even a small amount of liquor," he said.

'Wild Party'
Murder Trial
Is Postponed

Waycross, Ga., May 24.—(Special.)—Mrs. Arlie Batten, Bacon county woman charged with killing Emmett Jones, Bacon youth, "just to see him jump" will have another breathing spell before she goes on trial for her life.

Scheduled to be tried at the regular term of Bacon county superior court now in session at Alma it became necessary to postpone the case until the regular August term because of the illness of Homer L. Causey, leading counsel for the defense.

Mrs. Ben Taylor, who also was implicated in the crime at the time officers arrested Mrs. Batten and who was held as a partner to the fatal shooting, is now serving a sentence on the state farm at Milledgeville, having entered a plea of guilty on another charge. According to Bacon county authorities, she will not be brought back for trial in connection with the Jones slaying. Mrs. Batten having admitted since her arrest that she shot Jones, thereby absolving Mrs. Taylor.

The shooting occurred on the Waycross-Alma highway last November 11, Jones having gone out on a party with the two women and another companion. The state was ready for trial when the case was called at Alma this week but the trial was postponed along with other cases because of attorney Causey's sudden illness.

R. W. Scott Named To Head Tubize Group

Rome, Ga., May 24.—(P)—Elevation of Rufus W. Scott, a director of the American Chatillon Corporation, to presidency of the board of the Tubize Artificial Silk Company of America, was announced today in the annual report of the Tubize Corporation.

Election of Scott to the Tubize board, and decision to erect a Rayon plant at Hopewell, Va., similar to the Rome Tubize plant under the alliance formed between the Chatillon and Tubize Corporations, were developments of merged facilities the report said, adding that Scott would be in direct charge of sales hereafter.

Plans of the Rome plant of the Chatillon Corporation will remain unchanged, the report said, and manufacturing of "test materials" in the Rome Acetate plant of that Corporation will proceed. No other changes were contemplated, it was stated, and manufacturing will begin in the Rome plants both acetate and cellulose, will begin shortly.

IN 35-FOOT FALL
AT DAHLONGA

Dahlonga, Ga., May 24.—(Special.)—Loyd Elrod, lineman, was instantly killed here this afternoon when he took hold of a 12,000-volt wire. C. W. Tinker, the foreman, told Elrod to climb the pole and pull the twenty three hundred volt fuses while he went to get some wire.

When he returned he noticed that the rubber gloves were left at the foot of the pole while Elrod had gone ahead to work on another pole. Elrod started to tie one of the wires when he received the shock and fell 35 feet from the top of the pole, breaking his neck. He had his safety belt on, but it was not fastened around the pole.

Kovno, Lithuania, May 24.—(P)—A student named Vosylus, sentenced to death yesterday for the recent attempt on the life of Premier Waldemar, was executed by a firing squad at sunrise today.

After sentence he confessed a share in the crime and implicated certain of his friends as accomplices, among them a student named Gudelis who he alleged was the prime mover in the plot.

The premier and Mme. Waldemar escaped injury when a fusillade of shots fired at them struck four of their party as they were entering a theater.

Motor Experts Examine Engines of Giant Craft To Hasten Take-Off.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, May 24.—(P)—Experts at the Zeppelin and Maybach Motor Works mobilized all their forces today on an examination of the dirigible Graf Zeppelin's engines in order to permit at the earliest date possible another start on the American flight.

The damaged motors, which caused failure of her attempt to fly across the Atlantic last week, were unboxed at noon at the Maybach plant, where parts for 20 other motors are ready to be assembled.

Everything now depends on determination of the question whether the accidents was due to "fatigue" of the motor material or whether a technical change in motor construction will be necessary.

If the former is the case, only replacement of the "fatigued" motors by new ones will be required and a new start for America could be made within eight to fourteen days. Much greater delay is foreseen if technical changes must be studied. The flight from Chers to Friedrichshafen was made with two new engines and one used one, plus the good motor which was not damaged.

A Well Filled Ice Chamber Means Lower Temperature

THE above chart, prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture Experiment Station at Purdue University, proves that it is practicable to maintain temperatures in your ice box of from 42 to 52 degrees if you will keep the ice chamber two-thirds full. A half supply raises the temperature just a single degree. But when you let the ice get down to just a few pounds you find, of course, that the temperature rises rapidly.

Remember—There is no more healthful, economical or efficient method of refrigeration than pure ice in a good refrigerator.

COUNTY SCHOOLS ASK INCREASE IN FUNDS

Aid of Legislature Is Asked at Fulton High School Rally.

Resolutions requesting the Fulton delegation in the general assembly and the state senator from this district to work for passage of legislation to allocate sufficient funds from the revenue now received by the county from taxes or other sources, to the county board of education to maintain efficiency of the county school system were adopted Friday afternoon at an educational rally of Fulton county citizens at Fulton High School.

Judge Virlyn B. Moore, as chairman of the meeting, appointed the following committee to confer with public officials and urge passage of the legislation: Ed Humphries, chairman; Eugene King, George Longino, Oscar Suttles, T. A. Burdette, Walter Dillon, Thomas W. Moore, John Carroll, J. T. Morgan, W. A. Jones, Byron Battis, Mrs. C. G. Trowbridge, Mrs. P. T. Reddick, Mrs. F. A. Sheils, Mrs. George Scipies and Mrs. George Hixley, Jr.

The resolutions seek additional funds for the county board of education in order that the building program may be carried forward to early completion. Addresses pointing out the necessity of new school buildings were heard at the meeting, speakers being the recommendations of the grand jury within the past few years. The resolutions stated that "there are a number of wooden school buildings in the county school system which are old, out of date and unsafe, and it is imperative that these buildings be replaced as soon as possible with up-to-date, fireproof brick buildings."

John A. Wells, county school superintendent, said that the board of education wishes to avoid future trouble and that unless the financial status of the schools is improved, they will either be at a standstill or will go backward. The two county high schools are crowded to capacity, the school population generally having shown an increase of 25 per cent over five years ago. Six or eight new schools are needed to replace antiquated buildings, he said.

Paul S. Etheridge, chairman of the county commission, and Walter C. Hendrix, member of the commission, pledged their efforts to better the school system, stating that the county commission is always willing to help the schools to the limit of its ability. Mr. Hendrix pointed out the school systems and educational institutions all over the state face the same financial problem. The University of Georgia seeking $3,000,000 from the legislature for extension work, and Georgia Tech urging an administration building erected in 1931.

Miss Bessie Kempton, member of the Fulton delegation to the legislature, and State Senator W. V. Whaley, of Jonesboro, promised their support to the movement. Senator Whaley said he hopes that some day he will draw a bill to change the state school laws and make them understandable. The resolutions were read by Ed Humphries, Walter Dillon and George Longino made short talks.

HOOVER IS CALLED MUSSOLINI OF U. S. BY SENATOR BLEASE

Washington, May 24.—(AP)—"Mussolini-Hoover" was the title bestowed upon the president in the senate today by Senator Blease, democrat, of South Carolina.

"He wants to be president and he wants to be the house and senate," Blease declared. "He appointed a cabinet most of whose members nobody ever heard of. He wanted them to come to the White House and get their orders and not have any opinions of their own."

"Hoover is to this country what Mussolini is to Italy," Blease shouted. "Mussolini-Hoover" is what he is."

'Fair, Warmer' Forecast Made For City Today

Highly euphonious and delightfully un-original was the official utterance of C. F. von Herrmann, local U. S. meteorologist, who promises for Atlanta today "weather continued fair and slightly warmer," with the probable range of temperatures being 64 to 82 degrees.

Friday the minimum temperature reading was 60, but Sol after a few hours' work hiked the reading to 70.

MEXICAN STUDENTS CONTINUE ORDERLY DEMONSTRATIONS

Mexico City, May 24.—(AP)—Striking students of the National university law schools, who fought police in a series of riots last night, continued their demonstrations today, but were not molested by the authorities as long as they remained fairly orderly.

From 200 to 300 students, who have been protesting against newly ordered monthly examinations, held a fifteen-minute rally in front of a newspaper office during the day and then marched off to another section of the downtown district.

Two of the students are likely to die from injuries which they suffered in last night's rioting and fighting with the police. Seventeen were more or less seriously hurt. Earlier reports were to the effect that one student had died, but a checkup by the police failed to reveal any deaths.

President Portes Gil ordered the police withdrawn from the National university and other educational buildings and the students were informed that they could hold meetings in the buildings at will as long as they were orderly and did not destroy property.

HENRY FORD GOES ANTIQUE HUNTING AT ALEXANDRIA

Alexandria, Va., May 24.—(AP)—Henry Ford went antique hunting in this old revolutionary war city today and acquired a number of ancient pieces for his museum at Dearborn, Michigan.

Unnoticed by passing crowds, the automobile manufacturer entered an antique shop, but was greeted by the discerning daughter of the proprietor with the salutation, "You're Mr. Ford." She received in response a smiling acknowledgment.

Two Betty lamps, once the property of a niece of General Robert E. Lee, and a pair of bronze vases; a lantern-shaped barometer, said to be more than 200 years old; a colonial sideboard, a lady's back chair, a brass bell, a medalion of the Civil War period and an album were acquired by Mr. Ford, who deliberated at great length on each purchase.

Washington, May 24.—(AP)—The senate manufacturers' committee today deferred final action on the Wheeler resolution for an inquiry into the textile industry today until Monday on motion of Senator Hale, republican, Maine, who asked time to submit amendments.

ANTI-'LOAN SHARK' FIGHT TO CONTINUE

Decision of Judge Humphries
Seen as Death Blow to Indorsers.

The decision handed down by Judge John D. Humphries Thursday in the case of Claude Shepherd against Harris Brothers, Inc., which puts an end to illegal charges of indorsements of notes and permits suits for recovery of amounts paid will prove a death blow to the so-called "loan sharks" operating in Atlanta, in the opinion of R. J. Reynolds, Jr., chairman of the legal aid and anti-loan shark committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"We regard it as a most important legal victory," Mr. Reynolds stated Friday afternoon, and we are going to continue our fight with renewed vigor. It is our intention to give all possible assistance in filing suits and taking every other possible step in this decision in carrying on this fight."

Will Aid in Fight.
He pointed out that the decision affected only the "indorsers" directly but that it would undoubtedly help in the fight against the "sharks" who pose as "salary buyers" as well.

Mr. Reynolds' committee has called an industrial and commercial conference for 6:30 o'clock Tuesday night at the Ansley hotel when some sixty firms in the city have been asked to send representatives for a discussion of the situation.

Hundreds of telephone calls from interested parties were received by J. L. R. Boyd, counsel for the legal aid and anti-loan shark committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, following announcement of the decision.

As a result of this ruling several thousand claims by the guarantee companies will never be paid, as they have obtained the principal several times over, Mr. Boyd said.

Employers' Aid Sought.
Mr. Boyd said that all employees are being urged to put up notices if loan sharks attempt to collect their illegal charges, no discipline will be meted out to employees who furnish the biggest weapon in the hands of the loan shark is the garnishment, because many victims of loan sharks are discharged by their employers and this drives other victims to come down and pay up, he said.

Judge Humphries held that companies which charge fees for the use of their indorsement to obtain loans should be bound by the small loan act and the same as the small loan companies, and that excessive charges for the indorsements are illegal.

TRUNK OF JEWELS HELD AT MIAMI AS CONTRABAND

Havana, May 24.—(AP)—A trunk containing $25,000 worth of diamonds and other stones has been received by the treasury department from the United States customs at Miami, Fla., where the trunk was seized last month as contraband.

The contents of the trunk will be held pending settlement of a case in which nine Havana jewelers claim part ownership. The trunk was sent to Miami in the name of Henry Kulaker, who failed to take the boat to Miami, and who is said to be now in Port-au-Prince, Haiti. The Havana jewelers have accused him of shipping the jewels to the United States without their permission.

Return of the trunk to Cuba was said by police officials to have been effected through official representations by the Cuban government at Washington and the claim that true owners of the jewels had been identified by Kulaker, were not smugglers, and that their property should be returned.

PRINCE'S ROMANCE INTERFERED WITH; LEAVES COUNTRY

Los Angeles, May 24.—(AP)—"Family interference" with his Hollywood romance has induced Prince Louis Ferdinand, of Prussia, grandson of the former kaiser, to give up his work at the Ford Motor Company assembly plant here and leave the country. He admitted this as he boarded a train tonight for New York, en route to Buenos Aires, Argentina.

For nearly a month, the prince had worked in overalls, inequity, at the factory as a steel laborer. He explained he had been forced by his parents to give up the idea of laboring in a German factory, but expressed keen interest in American laborers and delight at being allowed to work on the machinery. He came to Southern California about a month ago.

The young second son of the former crown prince said he had been transferred to South America upon the request of his family and the authority of Henry Ford. He is to work in the Argentine branch of the Ford company.

Louis Ferdinand, as his name appeared on the company payroll, has been seen here frequently in the company of a Hollywood film actress, a European whom he met before coming to the United States.

U. S. TO TRANSFER MALARIA FEVER LAB. TO ALBANY

Albany, Ga., May 30.—(Special).—Albany's prominence as a leader in malaria control work in the south is expected to be enhanced by the removal to this city from Greenwood, Miss., about June 1, of the field laboratory malaria investigation, United States public health service.

The city management has donated the use of the pavilion building in Tift Park for this laboratory, and it will be fitted up for the purpose at the city's expense. It is expected that the laboratory will lead valuable assistance in the malaria control campaign now being waged by Dougherty county, in co-operation with state and federal government agencies.

W. H. W. Kemp will be in charge of this laboratory, and is expected to bring one or more assistants with him. The work of the laboratory consists of field work in connection with malaria investigations.

Alma Rubens Gives Cal. Narcotic Agent Valuable Information

San Bernardino, Calif., May 24.—(AP)—A. M. Monroy, federal narcotic agent, said after questioning Alma Rubens in a Patton asylum, where the former actress is confined as a narcotic addict, she had given him information concerning the drug traffic in Hollywood.

Monroy refused to reveal details of the conversation, but asserted Miss Rubens made admissions which would be of material aid in an investigation of conditions in the film capital.

Miss Rubens recently was sent to Patton for violation of her parole from the state narcotic hospital at Spadra, Calif.

TEXTILE STRIKE END SEEN IN CAROLINAS

Settlement of Labor Troubles
Arranged at All But Two Mills.

Charlotte, N. C., May 24.—(AP)—The textile industry in the Carolinas today was gradually approaching the time when strikes, that two months ago seemed to be spreading throughout the Piedmont district, will have been settled or otherwise ended.

Whereas on May day some 5,000 workers were on strike in the two districts, only two small strikes still were on today. These were at Anderson, S. C., where 200 weavers at the Anderson Cotton Mill were striking, and at Gastonia, N. C., where some employees of the Lenoir mill of the Manville-Jencks Company are holding out.

The settlement of the dispute between workers employed at the Woodruff mill at Spartanburg, a unit of the Brandon corporation, is the latest peace move in the Piedmont district. The Woodruff employees last night announced that they would return to work next Monday.

At the Lenoir mill in Gastonia mill officials say they are working with a full crew. The strikers still holding out have moved their headquarters to a point distant from the mill village and, although J. Edgar Deal, Carl Ketter and other leaders of the National Textile Workers' Union still are in Gastonia, little is heard of the strike. Daily mass meetings are held. It is in connection with the Lenoir strike that the only serious trouble of the strikes in the Carolinas occurred.

No Affiliation. There were several other strikes in North Carolina in which the National Textile Workers' Union had a hand, but in South Carolina there was no union affiliation. The United Textile Workers, a union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and fighting the National Textile Workers, has organizers in the territory. These organizers are working openly and plan, if possible, to unionize the entire industry.

In virtually every instance working conditions due to installation of so-called efficiency systems in mills were responsible for the strikes in the Carolinas. In South Carolina there were no wage demands although wages figured to some extent, the strikers claiming that they could make no more, if as much, under the method of operations known as the multiple loom system, or as the employees called it, the stretch-out system.

Yielded to Employers. In some mills the employers yielded to the wishes of the employees and went back to the system in vogue prior to the installation of the multiple loom system. In others there was a reduction in the number of looms one skilled weaver was required to look after, while in others the employees returned with promises that such adjustments as seemed advisable would be made.

Mill managers and strike leaders in South Carolina declined to make public the terms of settlements in virtually every instance. It was learned, however, that there were no wage arrangements other than such as might occur in reducing the number of looms weavers and other employees looked after.

In the strikes in North Carolina wage demands were made but with one exception none of these was met. At the Wamsutter Mills at Lexington, N. C., a strike was precipitated by a wage reduction. The mill management, after conferring with a federal arbitrator, agreed not to put the cut into effect.

The National Textile Workers' Union called a strike at the Lenoir mill in Gastonia and presented a series of demands including a minimum wage of $20 weekly. The mill management refused to concede any of the demands. The same situation prevailed at the Chadwick-Hoskins No. 5 plant at Pineville but this plant was closed after two weeks the strikers agreed to return without any concessions.

Savannah Wins Favor as Port, Rail Officer Says

Eyes of the nation are slowly but surely turning to shipping points on the south Atlantic seaboard and the port of Savannah, particularly, is being accorded its proper recognition.

Through the efforts of Mr. Robinson and other officials of the Georgia Railroad and other officials of the Georgia Railroad, the port of Savannah, particularly, is being accorded its proper recognition.

"Being the first consignment of iron products ever to move through the Savannah port from Illinois," Mr. Robinson said, "we feel satisfied that all Georgians will be glad to know of the increasing attractiveness in ability to secure rates through Georgia ports, comparable with other ports used in European traffic."

Slicer, Norman,
Former Bankers,
Are Indicted Again

A new indictment embodying transactions which have appeared in previously returned indictments was returned Friday by the Fulton grand jury against J. S. Slicer, president, and T. J. Norman, vice president, of the defunct Colonial Trust company. The indictment charges the defendants with embezzlement of $86,842.85.

Slicer and Norman will be placed on trial on this indictment on June 11, it was announced at the solicitor-general's office. Slicer had been convicted of violating the state banking act, but the conviction was set aside by the state supreme court following the action of the United States supreme court in the W. D. Manley case, in which the act was declared unconstitutional.

The indictment returned Friday lists 14 alleged transactions in which notes and securities are said to be involved. The transactions occurred during 1923, 1924 and 1925, but were unknown until July 1, 1926, the true bill alleges.

The letter, signed by Mrs. J. K. Otley, as president of the board, said that the flag was one of the most beautiful waving in the breeze from on top of Cherokee mountain. The flag was presented by the Old Guard on May 10, the annual flag-raising day at the mountain school.

Pageant of Colorful Floats Opens Big Spring Festival Celebration at Gainesville

Airport Opening Today Is Principal Item on Program—Atlanta Planes
To Stage Air Circus.

BY LOYD A. WILHOIT,
Staff Correspondent.

Gainesville, Ga., May 24.—With a tremendous crowd of people from all parts of northeast Georgia, Gainesville's spring festival week was officially opened today with a colorful pageant in which were entered magnificent floats representing civic, industrial, municipal, educational, agricultural and business institutions of Gainesville and nearby communities.

The beautiful Chippewa float, a canoe rowed by an Indian and with the background of a river bank and a waterfall, was awarded the grand prize of the procession by the judges, who were prominent newspaper editors.

The Paquito mill float was given first prize in the industrial division, with the Gainesville mill entry winning second honors.

In the school division, the cadet corps and band of Riverside Military Academy won first prize, the Marine Street school float capturing second award.

A dainty and charming float entered by C. H. Hammond, jeweler, won first honors in the merchant division. Second prize went to the Ford Company of Gainesville, and third prize to the Imperial Pharmacy.

Judges. The prizes were awarded by John Paschal, of the Atlanta Journal, acting for the committee of judges. This committee was composed of Miss Emily Woodward, president of the Georgia Press Association and editor of the Vienna (Ga.) News; Mrs. Norwood Smith, editor of the Wiregrass Farmer at Ashburn, Ga.; Mrs. Lloyd A. Wilhoit, of Atlanta; James E. Nevin, of the Georgian; Mr. Paschal and the writer.

Gainesville was thronged for the opening of the spring festival event, and a program replete with interesting events has been arranged to last through next Friday. Saturday the Gainesville air port will be officially opened with an array of airplanes (present from Atlanta and other cities) and an air circus booked as the feature event of the day.

Graduation exercises of Brenau college and Riverside academy will take place during the week, the gaieties surrounding these events adding interest to the spring festival.

Following the parade this afternoon, the cavalry unit of the University of Georgia at Athens staged an interesting drill at Riverside, with the cadet corps and band of the Gainesville school adding to the military atmosphere of the exhibition.

Feted. The judges were given a delightful taste of the hospitality and progressiveness of Gainesville during their visit to the mountain city today.

After the performances at the Hotel Wheeler, attended by J. B. Dwyer, who was married to Mrs. Albert A. E. Roper, J. W. Edwards, of the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce and in charge of the festival, and E. A. McCormick, president of the Chamber of Commerce; A. S. Hardy, publisher of the Gainesville News; and Mrs. J. H. Singleton, publisher of the Gainesville Eagle, and others.

Festival officials expressed gratification at the success with which the event was opened, and stated that every indication is for continued success for the entire program.

PRESBYTERIANS FAVOR GREAT CHURCH UNION

St. Paul, Minn., May 24.—(AP)—By practically unanimous rising vote, the 141st general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America today adopted a far-reaching recommendation toward organic union of five large Protestant church bodies.

The proposal, made on the floor of the assembly, provided for appointment of commissions to work with similar commissions from the Protestant Episcopal church, the Methodist Episcopal church, South, and the Presbyterian church of the United States, generally known as the Presbyterian church.

The action was taken in answer to an invitation for a commission to consider union, extended by the Protestant Episcopal church at its general convention in Washington in October, 1922. Similarly, other church bodies have had under consideration proposals for union, but today's action is the first concrete movement toward union.

The assembly also appointed Dr. Robert Spear, of New York, a special representative to confer with representatives of the Protestant Episcopal church, the Methodist Episcopal church, South, and the Presbyterian church of the United States, generally known as the Presbyterian church.

A third step in the direction of union was the appointment of Dr. Henry O. Swearingen, of St. Paul, minister moderator of the assembly, to represent the Presbyterian church, South, with respect to union. Dr. Swearingen is a former member of that church body.

A separate recommendation adopted urged full co-operation be extended to the south church in the large use of effort in the conduct of home missions and the maintenance of churches. Extensive co-operation already has been achieved by various Presbyterian churches and the Reformed church in foreign missions.

Newspapers were recommended as the result of the best means of reaching the public, and the use of paid advertising in the press was urged to the churches of the United States. The annual report treated of the 141st Presbyterian general assembly by Walter Irving Clarke, national director of publicity for the denomination.

"The business world spends millions for publicity where the church spends dollars," said Mr. Clarke. "The church gets a great deal of free space in the newspapers as legitimate news. But the church has not taken advantage of the large use of paid advertising space. Cities of the United States spend $30,000,000 a year for publicity to exploit their attractions."

In the first test of strength on the Princeton theological seminary controversy at the Presbyterian general assembly today, the more liberal faction scored a victory, voting to follow the moderate program instead of that offered by Dr. J. Gresham Machen, ultra-conservative professor at the seminary. The vote was 530 to 300.

RUN OVER BY AUTO, BOY IS ONLY SLIGHTLY HURT

R. H. Whitehead, 20, of Hills Park, narrowly escaped serious injury on the Marietta road late Friday afternoon when he was run over by an automobile driven by Detective Lieutenant W. H. Andrews.

Whitehead was treated at Grady hospital where it was reported that he suffered no broken bones.

According to police reports, Lieutenant Andrews was driving out Marietta road when a small coupe driven by Harry Adams, of Hills Park, and containing several other passengers, including Whitehead, swept past at a high rate of speed. In cutting back into the middle of the road Adams lost control of his machine, causing it to crash into a parked automobile and then into a tree, the second collision throwing Whitehead and another youth to the pavement. The former rolled under the Andrews car. None of the occupants of the small car was injured, the reports show.

Call Officers McLean and Carroll escaped injury early Friday night when their car, in answering a burglar call on Jones de Leon avenue, was struck by another car at Glen Iris drive. The hit-and-run auto cut into the middle of the road, causing it to crash into a car driven by S. W. Hassler, of 431 Peachtree street, and then into a florist's truck driven by James Jennings.

Sam Hassler, who was in the car with his father, suffered several minor bruises about the head.

The feature picture is Paramount's all-day production, "The Trial of Mary Dugan," a story of a woman's fight for justice, with a powerful cast, including Clive Brook and Neil Hamilton in the lead roles. Stan Stanley and Edna May are headlining the vaudeville bill, presenting a comedy skit entitled "The Boarder."

The Howard offers this week "Gentlemen of Paris," acclaimed "Atlanta's Own," inasmuch as it was written by Ward Morehead, formerly a member of the Atlanta newspaper fraternity. The story depicts the life and loves of a veteran newspaperman who is caught in the current of a woman's love. It is the story of a woman's love for a newspaper life, forsaking everything else. Ruth Etting, renowned singer and recording artist, sings two popular numbers, while the clever sketch, "If Men Played Cards as Women Do," a colorful scene, is the overture. "Raymond" completes the film program.

Metropolitan.
Phyllis Haver, Louis Wolheim and Robert Taylor start the week with a very interesting and entertaining photoplay in "The Shady Lady," he shows now at the Metropolitan. It is the story of a woman's love to flee after becoming innocently involved in a crime, being recognized by a smuggler and forced to do his bidding. It is a talking picture. On the same program is seen the latest Gaur comedy, "School Begins."

JUROR WHO TOOK LIGGETT'S BRIBE
GETS FIVE YEARS

Nashville, Tenn., May 24.—(AP)—A verdict of guilty, with recommendation of five years' imprisonment, was rendered tonight against R. P. Osburn, juror in the trial of Walter Liggett on a charge of murder. Osburn was charged with acceptance of a bribe from Liggett.

The jury was out only 20 minutes.

"The business world spends millions for publicity where the church spends dollars," said Mr. Clarke. "The church gets a great deal of free space in the newspapers as legitimate news. But the church has not taken advantage of the large use of paid advertising space. Cities of the United States spend $30,000,000 a year for publicity to exploit their attractions."

ABSENT-MINDED
PROFESSOR FISHES
AS STUDENTS WAIT

New York, May 24.—(AP)—A professor at Columbia university absent-mindedly went fishing yesterday while 100 students awaited an examination for bachelor degrees.

When Professor Parker Thomas Moon failed to appear to give the assembled students their examination, an investigation was started which located him at his summer home in Woodmont, Conn. The lure of fishing had lured him from his mind, all thought of international relations and college examinations.

DAUGHTER DEFENDS
FATHER WHO SHOT
HUSBAND IN BACK

Amarillo, Texas, May 24.—(AP)—Reconciled to her father, R. H. Hamilton, whose pistol made her a widow, Thelma Hamilton, the girl who testified for him in his appeal for habeas corpus release under bond from a murder indictment returned after he killed Tom Walton, Jr., the girl's 21-year-old husband.

Thelma's father's will, it was in February while she and the boy she later married were students at the University of Texas.

She had talked with her father early in the spring about her love for Walton, but Hamilton advised against marrying until they both were out of school and Walton had employment. Hamilton did not object to the marriage if postponed, she declared.

Dr. J. H. Vaughn, who examined Walton's body soon after the shooting, testified Walton was shot twice in the back.

Hendricks, Hamilton's law partner, testified that he sold a pistol to Hamilton three weeks before the shooting.

Look Alike, Gunmen Grab Unknown Double Kidnaped by Gangsters Wrong Man in Chicago Cab

Chicago, May 24.—(AP)—A hunt was on tonight for the kidnapers of an unknown man, and the mystery of their identities and the plight of their victims only deepened as the search went on.

Police had expected to find the body of Thomas Cooper huddled, as in the fashion of gangland victims, in some prairie roadside ditch or some bullet-riddled automobile. But Cooper, whose photograph resembled the man taken from a taxicab in early morning, was found at his home, unharmed.

McNeill Oliver, taxicab driver, gave the police their only clue. A man had hired his cab and ordered him to "bury" out of this neighborhood," but down the street his car was noted to the curb by another and its occupants, displaying sub-machine guns, forced him to get out of the cab.

The victim, struggling with his captors, pleaded: "Ernie, remember I'm a married man, please."

With the collapse of Cooper's identification as the victim, the police could only guess that the leader of the abductors was Ernie Rossi, already sought in the investigation of Sergeant Ray Martin's death at the hands of extortionists. Oliver was not certain of Rossi's identification.

The only theory advanced was that the man taken from the involuntary hideaway of Detective Sullivan, Rossi was named by Deputy Police Commissioner Stege as one of the four men who were kidnapped from a $50,000 ransom. Sergeant Martin was shot as he lay in wait for the abductors, and Detective Joseph Sullivan was slain in a saloon gunfight Wednesday while his squad was hunting Blumhals' kidnapers.

In none of these have the police uncovered convincing evidence but, lacking other leads, regarded the kidnappings and the slaying of two police officers as interconnected and today's mysterious abduction as their sequel.

James Coyne, accused by Stege as the man who collapsed Sullivan, surrendered late today.

REPARATIONS PARLEY BLOC IS UNBROKEN

Paris, May 24.—(AP)—Despite several conferences today, the stalemate in the reparations negotiations was unbroken. The German delegates had seven talks during the day with several D. Young, the chairman of the experts' committee, and 10 delegates of the allied powers. It had been believed that the last of these conferences would be decisive, but so far has transpired it failed to change the situation.

It was understood that the British and Japanese delegates were to accept the German conditions in their entirety while the French and Belgian delegates would insist on the reparations agent during two years of half the protected part of the annuities.

The insistence of the Germans that the powers successors to Austria-Hungary contribute to the reparations fund, proportionate to the territory they ought to pay on Austria-Hungary's debt.

The conversations of the past two days have turned on how questions without progress as far as developments go. The Germans cling to their position, refusing to accept the modification made by the creditor powers in their draft report.

THE MEANS CLASS OBSERVATIONS ON The Sunday School Lesson BY RICHARD W. WALLACE

GOD'S LAW IN THE HEART.
Lesson for May 24, Jeremiah 31:20-34

In one of my favorite books there is a chapter entitled "The Gift of a Happy Outlook." Here is a sentence from that chapter: "We don't mind the journey at all if God will only keep us within the glorious sense that it is indeed a journey, a pilgrimage, an appointed progress toward something which will justify everything and end in joy."

When Jeremiah wrote the words of this lesson he was possessed—once at least—of "the gift of a happy outlook." His words were such as to convey to his people the conviction that in the good providence of God, they were indeed upon a journey, a pilgrimage; that the world—despite all appearances to the contrary—was making progress in the realm of religion, toward infinitely finer things than men had ever known. In Jeremiah's day people were saying certain things which, in the days to come, men would cease to say, for the simple reason that they would know better.

In that bright tomorrow of the soul of which the prophet was writing, men would have truer conception of God than the Jews of the day, and they would have deeper experience of His grace and mercy which would transcend those of the past and which would fill their hearts with "joy unspeakable." God would make a new covenant with His people.

This was the dream, the vision splendid which Christ was the fulfillment. "Ye search the Scriptures," said the Master, "because ye think that in them ye have eternal life; and these are they which bear witness of Me."

On the memorable walk to Emmaus it is said that "beginning from Moses and from all the prophets, He interpreted to them in all the Scriptures the things concerning Himself." One wonders if this were not one of the passages of which He made use at that Easter afternoon.

At any rate it is surely true that, as a result of Christ's coming, the conditions here described by Jeremiah are now being fulfilled. The Father of all men—ready to forgive their iniquity, to remember their sin no more.

Well if Jeremiah was privileged to look forward to the days to come, and if his dream is at least in process of realization, are not we also justified in believing that as respects the cause of true religion "the best is yet to be"? In fact, can we help believing that, being convinced as we are that in this world right and truth ultimately prevail?

"The Days Come."
"The days come"—days when men and women generally will have a truer, more Christlike conception of God than the Jews of the day, and they will have deeper experience of His grace and mercy which will transcend those of the past and which will fill their hearts with "joy unspeakable." God will make a new covenant with His people.

ENGINEERS SAY EVEE AT GREENVILLE IS SAFE

Memphis, Tenn., May 24.—(AP)—Engineers agreed today that the Mounds Landing levee, near Greenville, Miss., where the most desperate fight against the Mississippi river high water has been waged, was safe and capable of holding more water than predicted on the present rise.

Major John C. H. Lee, United States engineer in charge of the Vicksburg district, and J. S. Allen, chief engineer of the Mississippi levee commission, who have been represented as being at odds as to methods used in certain projects, conferred at Greenville today and then issued a statement denying that any friction existed.

A box lock being constructed at Mounds Landing neared completion tonight. Allen said it would be a battle in strength, and the entire levee in front of it were to cave in it probably would hold back flood waters.

South of Greenville, in Issaquena, Humphreys, Sharkey and Yazoo counties, backwater today overflowed a number of plantations, drowning out the cotton crop. C. E. Day, of Rolling Fork, Miss., in Sharkey county, estimated that 55,000 acres of cotton in the lowlands had been affected.

At Memphis the Mississippi river reached a stationary stage at 41.5 feet today, 6.5 feet above flood stage, a slight new rise will send it up a little, but expectations were that a fall would set in next week that would take it down rapidly.

Throughout the valley a calmer feeling existed, although the battle against what was believed to be the last spring rise appeared to be going against the elements.

The Arkansas river reached its crest at Little Rock and there were no indications of a new rise immediately. The Red was at 20 feet at Arkansas.

Ark. In the southern part of St. Francis county, Arkansas, some land was under water from the St. Francis river, but farmers said it would subside in time to make a crop.

Box Loop To Be Bulwark of Safety, Division Chiefs Assert.

Memphis, Tenn., May 24.—(AP)—Engineers agreed today that the Mounds Landing levee, near Greenville, Miss., where the most desperate fight against the Mississippi river high water has been waged, was safe and capable of holding more water than predicted on the present rise.

Major John C. H. Lee, United States engineer in charge of the Vicksburg district, and J. S. Allen, chief engineer of the Mississippi levee commission, who have been represented as being at odds as to methods used in certain projects, conferred at Greenville today and then issued a statement denying that any friction existed.

A box lock being constructed at Mounds Landing neared completion tonight. Allen said it would be a battle in strength, and the entire levee in front of it were to cave in it probably would hold back flood waters.

South of Greenville, in Issaquena, Humphreys, Sharkey and Yazoo counties, backwater today overflowed a number of plantations, drowning out the cotton crop. C. E. Day, of Rolling Fork, Miss., in Sharkey county, estimated that 55,000 acres of cotton in the lowlands had been affected.

Republican Patronage Deal Death Blow as Census Posts Are Put Under Civil Service

100,000 'Spoils' Positions
Taken From G. O. P.
When Senate Passes
Measure, 42 to 37.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

Washington, May 24.—Joining forces with 11 progressive republicans, democrats of the senate today delivered a stinging blow to plans of old guard leaders for distributing as patronage the estimated 100,000 federal jobs that will be filled in taking the next national census.

By a vote of 42 to 37 the senate adopted an amendment to the combination census and reapportionment bill providing that all workers in the next national enumeration shall be employed under civil service regulations.

The amendment was sponsored by Senator Robert F. Wagner, democrat of New York, and given almost unanimous minority support among those voting, only one democrat senator casting his lot with the administration—Senator C. C. Dill, of Washington.

Republican Aid.

The 11 progressive republicans who made the democratic victory possible by opposing leadership of their party are as follows:

Senator Brookhart, of Iowa; Senator Blaine, of Wisconsin; Senator Capper, of Kansas; Senator Coughlin, of Michigan; Senator Dole, of Vermont; Senator Frazier, of North Dakota; Senator Howell, of Nebraska; Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin; Senator McPherson, of South Dakota; Senator Norris, of Nebraska, and Senator Nye, of North Dakota.

In adding the important amendment to the bill, democrats rode to victory on an effective attack against the old "spoils system." Senatorial debate preceding the vote was spiced with charges that to divorce the 100,000 census workers from civil service requirements would result in federal patronage abuses and possibly an unscientific census.

Democrats Jubilant.

Democratic leaders were obviously jubilant over the successful coup as they had a right to be. It means that old guard republicans, if the amendment holds in the house, will be deprived of the most important piece of bulk patronage provided in 10 years.

While no formal announcement on the subject has been forthcoming from department of commerce officials having jurisdiction over the census, it has been assumed that a policy would be adopted calling for employment of 100,000 enumerators and supervisors under the so-called spoils system.

Republican congressmen and senators, together with party organization officials in the various states had expected that the right to name the census takers would be left with them, just as it is now in most classes of federal offices.

Democrats Equal.

Under a policy of that kind democrats would have been eliminated from the picture. The trust they could have hoped for would have been a few crumbs falling from the patronage table. Now with the Wagner amendment they are placed on an equal footing, at least so far as concerns the enumerators, forming the great bulk of the appointments.

As for the supervisors, the higher officers assigned to each census district, the commission may be expected to adopt the same practice now used in postmaster examinations with the three highest eligibles certified for appointment under circumstances involving political considerations.

Even here, however, democrats would be expected to salvage a fair part of the superior posts, particularly in the south.

The census reapportionment bill is yet to be acted on by the lower house and it remains to be seen what attitude there will be on the amendment. If it is retained it will mean that in Georgia, for example, examinations will have to be called by the civil service commission for employing the 16 or more district supervisors and the hundred more enumerators to be assigned each supervisor, together with such other workers as will be necessary. For the most part, local republican leaders will have little to do with the jobs, except in expressing a preference among eligibles certified for the key positions.

Eliminate Proposal.

The amendment likewise would definitely eliminate the proposal put forward by the American Chamber of Commerce, calling for recommendations by local civic organizations for filling superior posts.

Administration senators opposed the amendment on the grounds, supposedly, that a tremendous burden would be imposed on civil service machinery by dumping the 100,000 jobs into the lap of the commission. Also it was argued that considerable delay in taking the census would be caused by resorting to civil service requirements. This is undoubtedly true, but the argument was ineffective in view of the fact that the next decennial count is not scheduled to take place until 1930, leaving what democrats regarded as ample time for building the necessary census structure.

While the republican opposition was based principally on this objection, minority leaders pretended to believe that loss of the "spoils system" was the real cause of the losing administration attack.

Taking of the census will involve an expenditure of approximately $40,000,000, it is estimated. Supervisors will be paid an average of $1,500 to $2,500 for some three months' work, depending on the size of their districts. Enumerators will receive from $5 to $8 per day.

CENSUS BILL GETS FAVORABLE VOTE.

Washington, May 24.—(P)—Supporters of the census and reapportionment bill held the upper hand on an important vote in the senate today, indicating favorable action on the measure early next week.

By a vote of 45 to 38 the senate rejected an amendment by Senator Black, democrat, Alabama, designed to prevent the president from declaring a reapportionment of the house of representatives in the event congress failed to do so after the census of 1930 and each succeeding 10 years.

The opposition to the bill considered this amendment their most effective move.

An amendment by Senator George, democrat, Georgia, limiting the provisions of the measure to the census of 1930 and the ensuing reapportionment, however, was rejected by only one vote, 42 to 41. Senators Black and George gave notice that they would ask for a separate vote on their proposals after the bill is ready for passage.

The measure would authorize the director of the census to make a complete list of the census takers and to be entitled to the house. If congress subsequently failed to pass legislation, the allotment announced by the president would become effective.

Upon receiving a legal opinion from these two officials, the president will determine whether the policy of the administration will be.

Ask Work Suspended.

In the brief the senators requested that work on the flood control project be suspended pending a complete reconsideration of the whole plan. The official transcript of the debate showed that this did not meet with executive favor.

President Hoover explained that the Jones flood control act has set up a commission to determine between the Mississippi river commission plan and the Jadin plan and that this commission had made a report favoring the Jadin proposal. That proposal subsequently was promulgated by President Coolidge.

The official transcript of the president's reply to questions on the flood control situation was as follows:

A group of senators and representatives interested in the Mississippi flood control have placed before the administration a brief requesting that the proposed contracts be suspended pending reconsideration of the plans and authorities under the flood control act. Some of the content of the brief is that the Mississippi river plan estimated to cost $750,000,000, and the Jadin plan estimated to cost about $325,000,000 should be reconsidered.

Report Was Made.

The act provided that a special engineering board should be set up to make the determination as to whether the plan and to report their conclusions to the president. This was done. The report recommended the Jadin plan and President Coolidge promulgated it by a definite order.

"The effect of other suggestions is that the government should purchase flood rights over a large stretch of the river where there is to be no additional water flow out of the main channel. Where the United States is required by the law to purchase land or flowage, or pay damages, this will be done in any event. Monies have been scheduled for such payments out of funds so far appropriated.

"Before the merits or demerits of the subject can be gone into I must first determine the legal questions involved as to whether or not the plan and method have not already been conclusively determined by the flood control act and the executive decisions of President Coolidge. I have submitted the questions to the secretary of the interior and the attorney-general for study and report."

ENGINEERS PROTEST JADIN PLAN.

Washington, May 24.—(P)—The American Engineering Council announced today it has submitted an emphatic protest to President Hoover against permanent adoption of the $325,000,000 Mississippi flood control plan of Major General Edgar Jadin, chief of army engineers, until the study of the council's flood control committee opposing the Jadin plan. This report was being studied today by the council's administrative board.

headed by Arthur Berresford, of New York, at a meeting here.

The Jadin plan was opposed specifically on the ground that it would be unwise to start construction at the present time on the Missouri river bank floodway. This project is a floodway, five miles wide and 35 miles long, although 70 miles in length by river distance, from Birds Point, Mo., opposite Cairo, Ill., to New Madrid, Mo.

The administrative board also considered a proposal of the Association of Western State Engineers that the studies of the nation's water resources be made under a co-operative arrangement between the states and the federal government on a dollar for dollar basis. The Western Engineering organization claimed the present financial arrangement under which the geological survey makes these surveys was unequal and unfair.

In the report on the Missouri river bank floodway the council said that "only meager data was available" when the Jadin plan was formulated and this project immediately aroused criticism.

"Even after the extensive surveys since made," it continued, "the people (local residents and many engineers whom they have interested in the situation) are still of the opinion that an economic appraisal and a comprehensive review of the engineering situation are needed and these might reveal a far superior plan."

Intensive Drive for $1,000,000 Fund For Agnes Scott To Be Started in Fall

TRUSTEES PRESENT DEAN WITH NEW AUTOMOBILE

Miss Nannette Hopkins, dean of Agnes Scott College and the first teacher in the school when it was organized forty years ago as a grammar school and the new automobile which was presented her Friday by the board of trustees in appreciation of her splendid work.

Decatur, Ga., May 24.—(Special)

Plans to raise a fund of $1,000,000 to obtain a $500,000 offer of the General Education Board of New York to Agnes Scott college, will be conducted this summer and active and intensive work in raising the money will be begun this fall, it was decided today at the annual meeting of the board of trustees of the college.

Committee appointed to prepare for the campaign includes Dr. J. R. McCain, president of the school, chairman; J. K. Orr, chairman of the board of trustees; Dr. J. Sproule Logan, pastor of the First Presbyterian church; Mrs. Samuel M. Inman, J. J. Scott, W. C. Vereen, of Moultrie, and W. A. Bellingrath, of Montgomery, Ala.

Mr. Orr will be named honorary head of the campaign committee when actual work on raising of the fund is begun, it was said.

Of the $1,000,000 fund, one-third will be devoted to endowments and scholarships, while the remainder will be applied to a construction program which will greatly enlarge the facilities of the college.

Construction plans call for the building of a recitation building during the summer and erection of a day students' club house soon after.

Other business Friday morning included the presentation by the trustees of an automobile to Miss Nannette Hopkins, first teacher at Agnes Scott when it started as a grammar school 40 years ago and who now is dean of the college.
